RESIDENTS' GROUP TO FIGHT SOLAR FARM PLANS

Members of the campaign group at the proposed Back Lane site

Report by Danielle Thompson

Campaigners bid to stop area becoming a 'solar panel dumping ground'

HORRIFIED residents have formed a campaign group after plans were submitted to build THREE huge solar farms in Aughton and Burscough.

Applications have been submitted to West Lancashire Borough Council for solar farms on land to the west of Back Lane in Aughton, to the rear of Old Waggoners Cottage on Formby Lane in Aughton, and to the north of Pippin Street in Burscough.

And residents have less than two weeks to submit their views on the Back Lane application and less than three weeks for the Formby Lane plans. A final date for submissions to the consultation on the Burscough plans has not been set but the council aims to make decisions on the proposals by July and August respectively.

Now residents have set up campaign group, Protect Aughton's Landscape Together (PALT) to fight the applications and stop the area becoming what they termed a "solar panel dumping ground."

Southport–based agents Be Renewables Limited submitted two planning applications on behalf of Back Lane Solar Limited for a ground–mounted photovoltaic (panelled) solar farm the size of 17 football pitches, with plans also allowing for 6.9 acres of land set aside for biodiversity and wildlife; and on behalf of Formby Lane Solar Limited for a ground–mounted photovoltaic solar farm the size of 13 football pitches.

The planning statement for the proposed Formby Lane Solar Farm states that Martin Mere and the Ribble and Alt estuary fall within 10km of the site and that the protected pink–footed geese must be taken into consideration as they rely upon agricultural land for foraging.

Renewable energy firm Lightscource SPV 191 Limited have also submitted an application to install a solar farm with photovoltaic panels the size of 12 football pitches on land to the north of Pippin Street in Burscough.

Aound 70 residents living close to the proposed sites attended the first PALT meeting on Wednesday, May 27 at The Institute in Aughton.

Jane Astle, from PALT told the Champion: "If these plans are approved it would see two separate farms being built within a few hundred metres of each other on prime agricultural land around Back Lane and Formby Lane, as well as on Pippin Street in Burscough.

"The panels, eight feet tall at their highest, would be surrounded by six–foot high metal fencing and CCTV cameras on 10– foot poles. Given their proposed locations, new access routes would also be constructed on what is currently a scenic public right of way, along with an electricity sub–station.

"At the meeting concerns were raised over the sheer scale of the application at Back Lane, the proximity to the application on Formby Lane and the combined effect both proposed farms would have on the landscape, both visually and from a wildlife perspective.

"Concerns were also raised about the noise impact of wind and rain on the panels given how close they are to people's houses and the inaccuracies in some of the supporting reports. For example, one applicant claims the land is Grade 3 agricultural but local farmers know it is Grade 1 and therefore much more important and valuable."

Back Lane resident, Paul Bewick, added: "Can you imagine looking out at, or walking,

Chance for residents to share experiences of community health services in borough

Report by Henry James

HEALTH leaders from the NHS in West Lancashire are holding a series of informal events and inviting residents to share their experiences of community health services.

The events, which work on a drop–in basis, will be attended by senior representatives from NHS West Lancashire Clinical Commissioning Group (CCG), Lancashire Care NHS Foundation Trust and Southport & Ormskirk Hospital NHS Trust, and will focus on community health services.

They want to hear about anything outside of hospital, for example, GPs, district nurses and community matrons, mental health services, podiatry, dieticians, physiotherapists, occupational therapists etc.

Greg Mitten, board member of NHS West Lancashire CCG who oversees patient and public involvement, said: "We hold these events to give everyone a chance to raise their views on community health services.

"We don't just want to hear about what's gone well, but would also welcome any feedback on what's not and where we can improve.

"The events are open to all ages, but we are especially interested in hearing from individuals who are 65 years old and over, with one or more long–term conditions. Each event runs for two hours but you can drop in any time for as long as you like. We look forward to welcoming your views."

Dates and venues are as follows: Wednesday, June 24, Up Holland Library, 2 to 4pm; Friday, June 26, Tarleton Library, 10am to noon; Monday, June 29, Skelmersdale Library, 2 to 4pm; Thursday, July 2, Parbold Library, 2 to 4pm; Wednesday, July 8, Brookside, Ormskirk 6 to 8pm.

Anyone who would like to discuss anything in advance can contact NHS West Lancashire CCG by email at myview@westlancashireccg.nhs.uk or in writing at NHS West Lancashire CCG, Hilldale, Wigan Road, Ormskirk, L39 2JW.

Borough's new mayor and deputy elected

THE new Mayor of West Lancashire wants to celebrate all that is great about the borough during her year in office.

Councillor Nikki Hennessy, who was elected at West Lancashire Borough Council's annual meeting last Wednesday (May 20), is really looking forward to her new role.

She said: "My theme will be celebrating all things West Lancashire, our people, towns, countryside, community groups, businesses and schools. West Lancashire has lovely people, very open and friendly, and I am really grateful to have this role of Mayor of West Lancashire."

Cllr. Hennessy, whose husband Paul will be her consort, worked in a number of posts before becoming a full–time councillor.

These included being GP referral officer for the council where she developed and delivered the 'Life Matters' scheme and also started the Nifty Fifties clubs at Burscough Sports Centre and Banks Leisure Centre and the borough's health walks.

The new mayor and deputy major with their consorts

Meanwhile when she worked for West Lancashire Council for Voluntary Service she supported individuals and community groups to access health services and also started the West Lancashire Health and Wellbeing Network.

Cllr. Hennessy has also worked for Central Lancashire Primary Care Trust in public health, leading on supporting the delivery of the NHS health checks, and for the Lancashire Fire and Rescue Service as a community liaison officer.

She was elected to West Lancs Council in 2008 to represent Tanhouse and has served on planning and corporate and environmental overview and scrutiny committees.

She also sits on the West Lancashire Health and Wellbeing Partnership and on the Ageing Well forum.

At the 2015 elections she 'retired' from being a Tanhouse councillor and was elected for Knowsley ward.

The mother–of–three is also a Lancashire County Councillor and is the authority's lead member for schools, and is a governor at Hillside Community Primary School in Tanhouse.

The new deputy mayor is Councillor Liz Savage whose consort will be Councillor Noel Delaney.

Cllr. Savage has represented Ashurst on West Lancs Council for four years, during which time she has served as shadow portfolio holder for transformation and resources and been a member of the executive overview and scrutiny committee.

She said: "As someone who grew up in West Lancashire it is a real privilege to be able to serve the area in this role."

cycling or riding alongside hundreds of eight–foot high structures surrounded by six–foot high metal fencing and CCTV cameras on 10ft poles on such a large scale and in such a natural environment?

"We're hoping the council will listen to our views, support us all in our bid to protect our natural environment and to prevent West Lancashire from becoming a solar panel dumping ground."

Residents must submit their views on the Back Lane consultation by Monday, June 8 and on the Formby Lane consultation by Wednesday, June 11, while a date has yet to be finalised for the end of consulation for the Pippin Street site.

The council plan to make a decision on the Aughton applications by July 29 and the Burscough application by August 20.

Tobacco smuggling couple ordered to pay £100,000 or face jail

Report by Danielle Thompson

A COUPLE who made millions by smuggling cigarettes in to the country in coffin–shaped boxes have been given six months to hand over £100,000 of criminal gains – or face prison sentences.

Graeme Davies, 45 of Smithy Lane, Barton, Ormskirk, was sentenced to three years in prison in 2011 for evading duty of around £1million by smuggling cigarettes.

He was later given an additional 15 months suspended sentence for fraud and deception offences, while his wife Anastasia Kalesopoulou, 45, of the same address, was given 100 hours community service for fraudulently obtaining a loan.

Following an in–depth financial investigation by the National Crime Agency, a judge at Manchester Crown Court ruled that Davies had benefited from his criminal conduct to the amount of £6.3 million, while his wife had benefited to the tune of £1.3 million.

The judge made a confiscation order for a combined amount of £100,000, which represents the realisable assets taking into account the outstanding mortgages and loans that were fraudulently obtained.

The couple have six months to pay or they will face additional prison terms of 12 months for Davies and 20 months for Kalesopoulou.

Three men convicted alongside Davies for the cigarette conspiracy had previously been ordered to pay a total of £260,000 at earlier hearings.

Garry Crone from the National Crime Agency said: "This was a complicated financial enquiry which was made possible by the support of HMRC and partners in the banking sector.

"As this case shows, our investigations do not stop when a criminal is convicted. Money is not only the motivation for most criminals, it is also key to facilitating future criminal enterprises. This is why we are determined to take their profits off criminals."

Lingerie shop owner in plea for unwanted bras to support charity

By Danielle Thompson

THE owner of a lingerie shop in Ormskirk is urging local women to donate their old bras to a charity which gives them to women in Africa.

Katie Givens, who co–owns Pandora's Box on Wheatsheaf Walk, is offering a free fitting and up to £5 off a new bra as a bonus for women who are generous while 'spring–cleaning' their lingerie drawer.

Last year, they received more than 1,000 bras, which they donated to Third World countries through recycling organisation BCR Textiles.

Katie said: "We collected between 1,200 and 1,300 used bras from our generous customers last year and we are hoping to beat that number this year.

"In return we will give our customers £1 per bra (washed and in good condition) to use against the purchase of a new bra, up to a maximum of five credits per new bra."

A spokesman for BCR Textiles said: "Re–usable textiles are sorted and sent abroad where they can provide clothing for those who either do not have access to or are unable to afford new garments.

"Every year thousands of bras are disposed of and ultimately end up in landfill sites across the UK.

"In Africa there is a demand for affordable bras.

"BCR Bra Banks are a fun and innovative way of taking bras out of the waste stream whilst raising thousands of pounds for charitable organisations across the globe."

Bid to extend hospital car park

PLANS have been submitted by Southport and Ormskirk NHS Trust to extend the main public car park at Ormskirk Hospital by a further 90 parking spaces on land currently reserved as a helicopter landing pad for airlifted casualties. A decision is expected on the application by Monday, July 13.

Animal sanctuary in urgent plea for funds

Report by Danielle Thompson

THE trustees of a charity set up to care for unwanted and neglected farm animals, small domestic animals and species of native wildlife have launched an urgent appeal for funds.

The Woodlands Animal Sanctuary in Holmeswood is a charitable trust which receives no government funding and relies entirely on donations from members of the public, alongside fundraising events and activities.

Since it was established in February 2005, the shelter in Sandy Lane has helped more than 10,000 animals but now staff have warned they are running out of funds to continue their work, due to a recent unexpected influx of injured animals.

Vickie Maude, trustee at the sanctuary, told the Champion: "Although we specialise in hedgehog rehabilitation, recently we have been called upon to come to the assistance of other wildlife desperately needing help.

"In the last week or so we were contacted about a fox cub in Southport, a badger cub in Rufford and a number of deer, all by different people in different locations!

"They will all receive specialist care and hopefully be released back into the wild after a number of weeks' rehabilitation.

"We always try to help and on this occasion we were the only animal rescue in the area able to respond to these emergencies.

"We are now running on emergency funds and without some extra help we will not be able to continue at the usual level, as resources are being cut back to try to ensure the safety of the sanctuary in the long term."

Gary tackles marathon buggy–push to raise funds and awareness of son's rare syndrome

Report by Danielle Thompson

MOST dads might reckon a long walk around the park with their children at the weekend is tiring enough.

But Gary Jones is aiming to go the extra mile – or 26 of them to be exact – by completing a marathon pushing his disabled son in a specially–adapted buggy in aid of a cause that is very special to him.

The dad from Aughton will be tackling the Rock 'n' Roll Liverpool Marathon on Sunday, June 14 with son Ben to raise awareness and funds for the rare syndrome that the eight–year–old was diagnosed with four years ago.

Phelan–McDermid Syndrome (PMS) causes intellectual disabilities, sleep disorders and seizures, moderate to severe development delays and, usually, difficulty developing functional language.

Ben also has an increased tolerance to pain and has also been diagnosed with attention–deficit hyperactivity disorder (ADHD).

But despite all his challenges, he remains a happy little boy and brings smiles everywhere he goes.

Gary started running with Ben four years ago after he participated in a virtual 5K race put on by the Phelan–McDermid Syndrome Foundation. He realised that running with Ben not only provides a way to relieve stress and bond with his son, but also helps stimulate Ben's sensory needs.

Since then he has started running in more races on behalf of PMS while pushing Ben.

Gary and Ben Jones at the Spring 10K in Liverpool, with mum, Vicki

More than 12,000 entrants are expected to take part in the second annual Rock 'n' Roll Liverpool Marathon and Half–marathon.

Both offer scenic courses that start and end along the waterfront, with live bands and entertainment staged along the way and a headliner concert at the finishing line.

Last year, Gary and Ben completed the half–marathon but this year they are stepping up to take on the full 26–mile marathon distance.

And this year, Gary can expect some help raising money from other Rock 'n' Roll Liverpool participants. Runners for the 5k run on the Saturday who tick yes when asked if they want to 'Run with Ben' when they register on the day will be receive a T–shirt and a donation will be made to one of Ben's chosen charities.

• To donate to Ben's appeal, visit bensbuggyruns.com. For information about Rock 'n' Roll Liverpool/to register for the race, visit runrocknroll.com/liverpool.

Pupils rewarded for design tribute contest efforts

YOUNGSTERS who took part in a national competition to design a statue to commemorate horses' service to humans in conflict have received rosettes for their efforts.

Pupils at St Mary's Catholic Primary School in Scarisbrick took part in the Free Spirit Horse Memorial Appeal's art competition to design a bronze horse statue. A life–sized sculpture will be created by equine sculptor Georgie Welch to commemorate horses' service to humans in conflict and the animals' wider contribution to the workplace, sport, rehabilitation and education.

Pupils at the Hall Road school were also taught about the important role played locally with a talk by Richard Houghton from the Lathom and Burscough Military Heritage Society.

Horses and mules were a vital part of the First World War effort and Lathom Park hosted more than 200,000 before they went into service. It was also one of only three Remount Depots in the UK.

Although they didn't supply the winning entry, St Mary's pupils were awarded rosettes for their eforts and enjoyed a visit by students from Saint Hilda's CE High School in Liverpool who also took part in the competition.

Teaming up to 'flush' out funds for world's poorest communities

By Danielle Thompson

Fundraisers hope to raise enough money to help families like this one in Uganda

A GROUP of fundraisers are hoping to be flushed with success when they stage a charity event in aid of some of the world's poorest communities.

Members of the Ormskirk branch of the University of the Third Age (U3A) are teaming up with Burscough Methodist Church parishioners to hold the Burscough Arts and Crafts Show fundraiser at the church in Orrell Lane on Friday, June 5 to raise money for the Toilet Twinning initiative.

First set up five years ago, Toilet Twinning is a quirky way to solve a serious problem and save lives by providing people in the world's poorest communities with a decent toilet, clean water and all the information they need to stay healthy and break free of the poverty trap.

For just £60, you can 'twin' your loo with a latrine in a country of your choosing – or for £240, you can twin with a school block.

Donations are used by Tearfund, a UK Christian relief and development agency which works in over 50 countries, to provide clean water, basic sanitation, and hygiene education.

The Burscough Arts and Crafts Show is a free family–friendly fun day running from 10am to 4pm featuring a raffle, card–making workshop and arts show, with refreshments also on sale.

In return, the charity will send the group a special Toilet Twinned Town framed certificate in recognition of their achievement, which will go on display at the church.

Ruth Melling, a member of the Ormskirk U3A, told the Champion: "We are hoping that we can raise lots of money to fund as many toilets as possible in Africa."

Mum sings praises of Ormskirk nursing team

Report by Ollie Cowan

THE mother of a young girl who suffers from a rare blood disorder has sung the praises of an Ormskirk–based nursing team that are helping her to battle the condition.

Nicci Adkins' four–year old daughter, Daisy has Diamond–Blackfan anaemia (DBA) which means her body doesn't produce any red blood cells.

Along with monthly blood transfusions at hospital, Daisy requires weekly visits from the Children's Community Nursing Outreach Team (CCNOT), based at Ormskirk hospital, to help manage her condition.

"We couldn't be without the CCNOT team", says Nicci.

"Just getting to monthly hospital appointments is challenging enough with two children and having the CCNOT team come to us for weekly visits really takes some of the stress away for both Daisy and me.

"Daisy is familiar with the team and they really put her at ease – they even visit her at nursery!"

The team was formed in 2013 and is made up of experienced pediatric nurses who provide ongoing medical treatment and assessment for sick children at home, seven days a week.

Nicci with Daisy and baby Pixie in their Southport home

They provide treatment and support for children with a range of conditions – including mild asthma, tonsillitis and gastroenteritis – along with rarer conditions and ones that require long–term support.

By providing treatment at home, such as daily intravenous antibiotics, this reduces the need for hospital admissions and reduces anxiety for children.

Patient satisfaction surveys frequently show how much parents value the service with statements such as "an asset to the NHS" and "invaluable" commonplace.

And Nicci certainly agrees.

She says: "If we didn't have the CCNOT team, it would mean a visit to hospital at least once a week. The flexibility of the team really meet Daisy's and our family's needs. They really do help make life easier during a stressful time."

Dr May Ng, clinical director of paediatrics at the Southport and Ormskirk Hospital NHS Trust, said: "Our Children's Community Nursing Outreach Team provides high–quality care and embodies the exemplary standards for child health, as set out last month by the Royal College of Paediatrics and Child Health. We are extremely proud of the service and this is echoed by our patients and their families."

Former UKIP election candidate joins BNP

By Danielle Thompson

FORMER UKIP candidate for West Lancashire in the General Election, Jack Sen, has sensationally quit the party to join the British National Party.

Mr Sen was suspended by UKIP ahead of the May 7 election after an allegedly anti–Semitic tweet was sent to a Liverpool Labour candidate from one of his four social media accounts.

Despite the suspension, Mr Sen still stood in the poll and won more than 6,000 votes to finish in the third place behind Labour's Rosie Cooper and Conservative Paul Greenall.

He has since quit the party and taken up a role as North West Press officer for the BNP.

He told the Champion: "Quite a few members of the British National Party reached out to me since the suspension, commending me speaking out.

"I spoke with BNP party chairman Adam Walker. I was impressed with the manner in which he wants to take the BNP forward and was pleased to see that our ideals and vision of a better Britain lined up. Authentic nationalism is not dead.

Jack Sen (right) with BNP chairman Adam Walker and treasurer Clive Jefferson

"The BNP will fight for the preservation of English values and our children's futures.

"I will be reaching out to the community in the upcoming weeks and am sincerely looking forward to working with the British National Party."

£100 boost for food bank

A FOOD bank based at a Burscough community group has been given a boost – courtesy of Lancashire County Council.

The Grove Activity Programme and Community Association in Station Approach was one of 20 food banks across the county to receive a £100 donation from the authority.

The outgoing chairman of Lancashire County Council, Kevin Ellard, has praised the work of food banks.

County Councillor Ellard, who finishes his year–in–office this week, said: "People go to food banks for a wide variety of reasons. They provide a highly–valued service that helps people right here in Lancashire during times of hardship and that's certainly to be applauded.

"Volunteers give their time at food banks to provide food for people who really need it. They work tirelessly to keep these groups going.

"We'd usually host a reception to thank these volunteers, but instead we've given a donation towards their work. I'd still like to thank them for what they do to help others.

"I'd also like to thanks all of the individuals, organisations and business across Lancashire who provide items and donations which keeps these groups going."

‘Must improve’ message to hospital trust bosses

Report by Ollice Cowan

BOSSES at the Southport and Ormskirk Hospital NHS Trust have been given a ‘must improve’ message following a report by the Care and Qualities Commission which carried out an inspection of the trust last year.

Among concerns was a ‘significant need for better and fit for purpose’ equipment used in the hospitals’ operating theatres, while the North West Regional Spinal Injuries Centre at the Southport site and maternity services at Ormskirk Hospital were found to be ‘inadequate.’

Following the report, England’s chief inspector of hospitals, Professor Sir Mike Richards, told the trust it must improve in order to provide safe, well–led, effective and responsive care.

He said: “It is clear that Southport and Ormskirk NHS Trust has a number of issues it has to address. Across the trust we saw many examples that showed that staff were caring, compassionate and treated patients with dignity, even when they were working under significant pressure.

“We found some members of staff remain with a feeling of not being valued. The staff we met spoke of a hierarchy of importance within the trust, with greater attention and priority given to the Southport and Formby site, followed by Ormskirk and the community services.

“It is a matter of concern that we found maternity services at Ormskirk and the North West Regional Spinal Injuries Centre at Southport to be inadequate.

“Staffing levels on the spinal injuries centre were significantly lower than national guidelines. The lack of suitably qualified, skilled and experienced staff to meet the needs of the patients must be resolved.

“The inspectors found that skill levels in maternity were below those needed to provide a consistently safe service. Some staff were being used for duties above their level of competency. Too few doctors had been trained to manage emergency situations in the maternity service.

“The inspectors found that staffing and skill mix levels in A&E services were below those needed to provide a consistently safe service.

“I expect the trust to prioritise these areas for improvement.”

Inspectors were told that the age of hospital equipment was an issue in operating theatres.

However it wasn’t all bad news for the trust – the report highlighted several areas of good practice including an outstanding example of staff taking full account of both spiritual and physical care appropriate to the religious and cultural beliefs of people nearing the end of life and their families.

The development of the Community Emergency Response Team was also hailed by inspectors and the trust’s compassionate approach to children and people with learning disabilities was also found to be of a very high standard.

The trust’s cheif executive, Jonathan Parry, said:: “Seventy per cent of NHS trusts inspected are rated ‘requires improvement’. We welcome the CQC report and we will be working hard over the months ahead to address the issues the inspectors have brought to our attention.”

Responding to the CQC rating for maternity services at Ormskirk, Simon Featherstone, director of nursing and quality, said: “We have a fully–staffed maternity team and are addressing the skills mix including recruiting new team members to work in maternity and gynaecology theatres.

“The trust has also asked the Royal College of Obstetricians and Gynaecologists to independently review the service so the trust, staff and patients can be satisfied it meets the very highest standards.”

Family fun day with a difference at Edge Hill

Thermal imaging showing how heat is stored in the body is just one of the unusual activites on offer at the fun day event

EDGE Hill will stage a family fun day with a difference next month to celebrate the university biology department's 25th anniversary.

Visitors to the event, which will run from 10am to 4pm on Saturday, June 27, will be able to sample a range of unusual activities including butterfly walks, thermal imaging photography and skeleton identification.

There will also be an opportunity to take part in tree treasure hunts and pond dipping and use microscopes to view plant cells, microbes and insects.

And a schools competition will be held, aimed at AS level biology students who plan to progress to A Level, testing biological knowledge and skills, while giving a taste of study at undergraduate level.

Enhanced

The university's biology department has recently undergone a major revamp and has been extended with a whole floor of brand–new lab space, supporting further work in human biology, together with enhanced facilities for research.

Dr Paul Ashton, head of biology at Edge Hill, said: "The department has grown markedly in the last five years, building on the previous 20, and we have graduates working in a variety of rewarding jobs.

"We want to celebrate the success of the department and its students with the local community and give them a chance to try out our great facilities for themselves."

Visitors are welcome to attend for all or part of the day's programme and free refreshments and a barbecue will be available.

For more information email biology@edgehill.ac.uk.

Half–term fun for youngsters at Chapel Gallery

ANIMAL antics will be on offer for children to enjoy at the West Lancs Council–run Chapel Gallery in St Helens Road, Ormskirk during the May half–term school holidays.

Artist Emma Blackburn, who runs the gallery's Saturday Art Club, will preside over a room full of fun as she helps families create their own zoo at the Marvellous Menagerie workshop on Friday, May 29.

This is a free event for pre–school children and their families, and the session times are 10.30am to 12.30pm and 1.30 to 3.30pm.

All children must be accompanied by an adult.

Advance booking is essential. Please contact the Chapel Gallery on 01695 571328 or email chapel.gallery@westlancs.gov.uk to secure places.

Generation game

RESIDENTS from a care home enjoyed a day out spending time with young children when they visited Moorgate Nursery in Ormskirk.

Six residents from the Hillcroft care and dementia home in Long Lane, Aughton visited the nursery as part of the Connecting Generations initiative launched by staff at the home in February. This focuses on encouraging older residents in West Lancashire to spend more quality time with younger people in the wider community.

Last year, staff at the home spearheaded a campaign to make older people in the local community feel more involved by inviting them to join residents at free activities and events held at the home and on days out.

Home manager, Margaret Sutcliffe, was presented with a Community Involvement Award earlier this year by West Lancashire Older People's Champion, Councillor May Blake, at the Skelmersdale Library Memory Festival in recognition of the work that she and staff at the home have done on behalf of older people in the community.

Margaret said: "The Connecting Generations initiative was launched to involve residents at the home and older members of the public enjoying more activities and quality time with children and younger adults and, importantly, full family involvement across all ages."

Hillcroft residents played with the children at Moorgate Nursery

And Hillcroft's events organiser, Lesley Malone, added: "Six of our residents went along to give parenting advice to the young mums at Moorgate Nursery and seeing the future generation brought back memories of when their own children were young.

"The mums and staff were wonderful and we would like to say thank–you for making it an afternoon to remember for our residents. We are going to stay connected to the nursery and have regular visits."

No excuse for snubbing St Patrick when it comes to flying the flag

FLYING flags for St George's Day? Good on you!

At our little church, we mark each of the four patron saints (Patrick, David, George and Andrew) with their flag, as a mark of saying, 'You're a part of us and we're a part of you. We wish you well on your special day.'

As St George's Day was the day of our Youth Fellowship, we celebrated outside round the fire, with flags, bunting and balloons (white iced cakes with red crosses), origami dragons, etc.

Last March, St David's Day fell on a Sunday. We filled the church with leeks and daffodils, made a poster in Welsh of John chapter 3 verse 16, and a banner of the first two lines of the Welsh hymn, 'Guide Me O My great Redeemer'. We heard about the witness and ministry of Dewi/David, who was a bishop.

Nobody went home not knowing it was St David's Day.

Sometimes there's confusion about our patron saints.

Last year, the Champion published a picture of five flags fluttering on a building in Southport – The Union Flag, St David's, St George's and St Andrew's.

But there was no recognition of Northern Ireland/St Patrick. Instead, the tricolour of the Irish Republic.

Where was St Patrick's flag? It is part of the Union Jack (the red diagonal cross).

It's easy to buy any flag these days, for example form a certain market stall in Ormskirk. So there is no excuse for snubbing the man who played a leading role in bringing Christianity to these islands.

Reverend David Benge,
Scarisbrick

Rail journey to Manchester is a nightmare for commuters

WE have just returned from visiting our daughter in Buckinghamshire traveling by rail.

We used four different trains/companies – Merseyrail (Southport–Liverpool); London Midland (Liverpool–Wolverhampton); Cross Country (Wolverhampton–Banbury); and Chiltern Rail (Banbury–High Wycombe).

All were clean, comfortable and efficient services and despite three changes the journey was achieved in a creditable four–and–a–half hours.

In a fortnight we will make a regular visit to Manchester Royal Eye Hospital using Northern Rail and we are not looking forward to the trip.

The train leaves Southport at 8.30am to commute to Manchester with only two units. At Wigan it fills up and at Bolton it becomes a cattle truck.

Yet on the return journey in the afternoon the train has four almost empty units!

It does not make sense.

And we are told that the next generation of rolling stock is London cast–offs. London already has 11 underground routes, plus overground and DLR yet they have just spent billions on Crossrail and are proposing a second line while lobbying for the HS2 commuter line to Birmingham.

We already have a Northern Powerhouse, what we need is a Northern Assembly to enable us to manage our own affairs to suit our own needs.

I'd gladly swap blue badge for independence

I WRITE in response to Sam Bailey's letter on blue badge holders (Letters, May 13).

I would like to make the following salient points.

Anyone with mobility problems can apply for a blue badge, it doesn't follow that a blue badge holder automatically has a vehicle from Motability.

Blue badge holders are allowed a parking space but are not exempt from hospital parking charges unless they are receiving social care benefits from other agencies, which can then be claimed back later.

Further, people on the Motability scheme can choose any car they wish, provided that they have the money to make the required deposit towards the cost of the car.

Disability payments then go direct to the scheme instead of the recipient. It is not free.

Personally, I would give up my blue badge, and modest disability car, tomorrow, if I could have my independence back.

Blue badge holder,
Old Skelmersdale (details supplied)

If it's good enough for Todmorden...

IF the Todmorden Curve can be reinstated after 43 years, cutting the time between Burnley and Manchester, then why not the Burscough Curves?

Thanks to my good Samaritan

PLEASE can you publish a letter of thanks for the lady who looked after me when I fell at the mini–roundabout at St Anne's School on Friday, May 8.

She drove me to my destination from where I attended Ormskirk Hospital and was given excellent care for a fractured wrist.

Many thanks.

Jan Lovelady,

Visiting a garden is good for health and happiness

MORE than 400 gardens will open their gates across England and Wales for the National Gardens Festival Weekend on June 6 and 7 raising funds for charity.

The NGS very much believes in the health benefits of garden visiting – physically, emotionally and spiritually.

Being outdoors in a peaceful, inspiring setting can make us feel happier and healthier, and a festival garden can offer a beautiful retreat from busy, everyday life.

We urge everyone to visit a garden during the festival and throughout the year – find one near you at www.ngs.org.uk.

Steve Ford,
NGS

Health check–ups can spot conditions early

I THOUGHT last week's One Man and and His Dog column ('Yearly health check–up can make you ill') was irresponsible.

There have been many people who have been cured when conditions have been spotted early, which an annual health check would do.

As for the doctor who said he could do nothing about a heart murmur, I had one 10 years ago, had surgery and was cured of a leaking heart valve.

What sort of doctor was your writer seeing, I wonder?

HGVs damaging village roads – claim

RESIDENTS of a West Lancashire village claim that heavy goods vehicles passing through en route to developments in neighbouring Sefton are damaging the roads – despite assurances that drivers would try to avoid the area.

Work began on more than 300 new homes in the Kew area of Southport earlier this year and as part of the Sefton Local Plan more than 3,000 are expected to be built there by 2030.

And Shirdley Hill resident Dave Corfield says HGVs travelling to the sites are being driven too fast through the village damaging road surfaces. He said: "Large wagons going to and from the site, some heavily loaded with stone, are passing through Shirdley Hill at speed, regularly and in numbers shaking houses on a road surface that is breaking up again having been repaired only last year.

"Lancashire County Council said the vehicles had an approved route and would not pass through Shirdley Hill but on a number of occasions now the nightmare they promised wouldn't happen has started with HGVs flying through the village."

Firm's extension bid

MANAGEMENT of a West Lancashire–based diving supply company which had a planning application to expand its business rejected by the borough council last year are hoping it will be a case of second time lucky after re–submitting the proposals.

The plans, to demolish a lean–to building at the rear of the Northern Diver premises at East Quarry, Appley Bridgey and build a new two–storey extension incorporating workshop and offices, have been put forward again by the firm's parent company, Armitage Holdings Monaco Ltd.

The initial application was rejected in May last year when the company accused West Lancs Council of "holding back business" in the area. However, the council refuted the claim and said the application was rejected on planning grounds.

A spokesman for Northern Diver told the Champion that they no longer believe that the council are holding back applications and are optimistic about moving forward and creating new jobs.

He said: "The council have been put into a difficult position whereby they they have to look at the full planning application and take into account other local opinions. We are optimistic that this application will be granted and that we can provide more local jobs"

The council plan to make a decision on the application by June 22.

Staff and pupilsat St John's Primary School with the new defibrillator and sign Code1080721

Footy fans score with lifesaving donation

A NEW lifesaving community defibrillator is to be installed at St John's Church of England Primary School in Burscough – thanks to fans of the town's football team.

The defibrillator, which will sited outside the main entrance of the school on School Lane, has been purchased with a donation of £700 by Burscough Linnet Line Lottery, while the coded protective box in which it will be housed will be paid for by the school's parent–teacher association.

The Burscough Linnet Line Lottery, is run by the Burscough FC Independent Supporters Association.

Since it was formed in May 2010, the Linnet Line Lottery has awarded a total of £65,200 in 60 prize draws.

St John's headteacher, Karen Cartwright, said: "Everyone at St John's would like to express their thanks to all the members of the Burscough Linnet Line Lottery who have funded a Phillips Heartstart Defrillator to be sited outside the main school entrance.

"It is fantastic news that anyone who may need to use this device will be able to access it easily in an emergency."

Specialist school plays host to Asperger's expert

A SPECIALIST school in Ormskirk has played host to a world–renowned Asperger's Syndrome expert.

Professor Tony Attwood was keynote speaker at the annual Witherslack Group conference at Pontville School in Black Moss Lane.

The school, rated as 'outstanding' by Ofsted since 2009, supports children and young people with autistic spectrum conditions, speech, language and communication needs.

The Witherslack Group is a leading provider of specialist education and care for children and young people with special educational needs.

Prof. Attwood spoke at the school's annual parent and carer conference about the successes of parents and carers of children and young people with special educational needs and offered expert practical support.

Headteacher, Elaine Riley, said: "It was wonderful to hold the conference with Professor Attwood. Like Pontville School he has offered hope, inspiration and vital knowledge at pivotal times in people's lives, so parents were suitably excited to hear him speak and visit our specialist school."

Constabulary 'must do better' on disability hate crime

Keep in touch with the local news and views on our website
www.champnews.com

Report also highlights force's good practice

Ch. Supt. Stuart Noble

A REPORT by statutory bodies covering the police, crown prosection service and probation service has found that Lancashire Constabulary needs to improve its approach to disability hate crime.

'Living in a different world', a joint review by Her Majesty's Inspectorate of Constabulary (HMIC), HM Crown Prosecution Service Inspectorate (HMCPSI) and HM Inspectorate of Probation's (HMIP) made seven recommendations for police, CPS and probation trusts.

Lancashire was one of six police forces visited as part of the inspections.

The review highlighted areas for improvement, both nationally and locally, but also recognised the force for areas of good practice.

A bespoke five–and–a–half hour training package on hate crime for front–line staff developed by the force was highlighted, as was its approach to third–party reporting, developed in conjunction with the Disability Hate Crime Network.

The report also referred to a 195% increase since 2011–12 to 2013–14 in the number of disability hate crimes reported to the constabulary.

Hate crime lead for Lancashire Police, chief superintendent Stuart Noble, said: "We are committed to tackling all crime motivated by hostility and prejudice and we would urge anyone who has been a victim of a hate crime to have the confidence to come forward and report it to police.

"Whilst elements of the report are disappointing and highlight the gaps, both locally and nationally, specifically around disability hate crime, we are determined to continue to learn, work with communities, victims and partners to increase awareness, the confidence to report incidents and provide the necessary support to victims throughout the investigation.

"We are currently undertaking our own review of our position around disability hate crime and will continue to develop our work around the issue."

Bid to raise dementia awareness

SENIOR care providers Home Instead West Lancashire supported Dementia Awareness Week (May 17 to 23) by hosting information and training sessions about the condition.

The care providers, based in Heskin Lane, Ormskirk, provided three Alzheimer's Society Dementia Friends sessions and free dementia–awareness Home Instead workshop sessions at the Home Instead office.

Dementia Awareness Week is organised by national Alzheimer's Society charity to raise awareness of the symptoms of the condition and to show that sufferers can still lead a fulfilling life.

The charity's Dementia Friends programme is their biggest initiative to change perceptions of dementia.

It aims to transform the way the nation thinks, talks and acts about the condition.

The charity wants there to be a million Dementia Friends with the know–how to help people with dementia feel understood and included in their community.

Gail Godson, director at Home Instead, said: "The Home Instead workshops teach people to identify the typical signs of dementia and gain a better understanding of the condition. The workshops are not just be limited to family members, they are for anyone who may interact with someone with dementia."

For more information contact Home Instead on 01695 589071.

Up to 3,000,000 Home May Be Badly Affected By Incorrectly Installed Cavity Wall Insulation - Is Yours One Of Them?

Cavity Wall Victim Compensation Scheme

An independent survey* carried out in February 2015 has revealed that over 83% of homes aged pre 1935 which have had cavity wall insulation installed were not suitable to receive the installation as the properties did not fall in line with the guidelines set in place by governing bodies or the product manufacturer.

This has resulted in a significant increase in properties being subject to damp and mould growth issues which have a detrimental effect on the property and the occupant's health.

It is reported that some mortgage companies have refused to issue mortgage offers due to this.

AS A RESULT OF THIS PROPERTIES ARE NOW SUFFERING SUBSTANTIAL DAMAGE

It is now apparent that as a result of these sub standard practices, the cavity wall insulation is causing more harm than good to your home.

How has this happened?

- ✔ Incompetent workmanship
- ✔ Inadequate technical assessment
- ✔ Incorrect installation practices
- ✔ Unsuitable properties
- ✔ Incorrect use of insulation (wool)
- ✔ Lack of remedial works prior to installation

Fire chiefs back call for stricter rules on fancy dress

Report by Henry James

FIRE service chiefs in Lancashire have echoed TV presenter Claudia Winkleman's call for stricter fire safety restrictions on fancy dress costumes after her young daughter was badly burned while wearing one.

Appearing on the consumer affairs programme, Watchdog, the Strictly Come dancing host spoke about the night her daughter Matilda's clothes burst into flames after the fancy dress costume she was wearing brushed against a candle.

The eight–year–old needed several operations to help her recover from her injuries and the surgeon who treated her has called for stricter regulations governing fancy dress costumes which are currently classed as toys NOT clothing.

Claudia Winkleman

As a a result of this 'loophole' such costumes are subject to less rigorous safety tests.

Tony Crook, group manager responsible for integrated risk management at Lancashire Fire and Rescue Service, said: "Children's fancy dress costumes are not always fire–proofed or fire–retardant and they can easily become engulfed if they are exposed to a naked flame.

"I would echo the calls made by Claudia, the surgeon and other colleagues from across the country, to ensure that fancy dress costumes should go through the same safety tests as other items of clothing.

"However, we also want to warn people about the dangers of candles and tea–lights. We are attending an increasing number of incidents where people have got injured in fires involving candles."

More than 3,000 take up free skills training offer

Report by Henry James

County's businesses urged to act fast to take advantage of accredited scheme

A £5.6m programme which offers companies access to free workforce training at a number of institutions in the county, including West Lancashire College, has helped more than 3,300 workers gain new skills in just six months.

Lancashire Skills Support (LSS), launched in September 2014, now has just over 10% of its 3,817 places remaining and businesses across the county are being urged to act fast if they don't want to miss out on the support.

LSS has been brought together by Lancashire County Council and the Lancashire Enterprise Partnership (LEP) and has been funded by the European Social Fund (ESF).

Training has already been completed in areas including team leadership, management, accounting, marketing, sales, health and social care, customer service, engineering, manufacturing, catering and hospitality.

'SUCCESS STORIES'

Amanda Melton, chair of the Lancashire Skills Board, part of the LEP, said: "The response we've had to Lancashire Skills Support shows that Lancashire businesses are busy growing and that new skills and qualifications are in high demand as they look to realise these growth aspirations.

"Over the course of the programme we've seen some real success stories of companies winning new contracts and customers as a result of these new skills, and of workers in Lancashire growing in stature as they improve their own knowledge."

Businesses qualifying for LSS receive a free training needs analysis with eligible employees, followed by free accredited training from leading providers based on their skills requirements.

Training available through the scheme includes a mix of basic and higher level skills, leadership and management skills, as well as technical and industry specialist qualifications.

Organisers are particularly keen to attract businesses in the growth sectors such as aerospace, advanced engineering & manufacturing, energy, environment and low carbon, financial and professional services, creative and digital, leisure, tourism and visitor economy, health occupations, professional, scientific and technical occupations.

Cloudy2Clear Windows – Service With A Smile!

It's been a crazy few months for Cloudy2Clear Windows. The company which specialises in repairing windows which are steamed up, broken or damaged by replacing the panes – not the frames has grown rapidly as homeowners take advantage of their services.

Manager Paul Kane feels that it's all about service. 'Our product is simple. If your double glazing is misted up we can replace the glass at a fraction of the cost of a new window, in any type of frame, and with a new 10 year guarantee. But it's not just about saving people money, although that obviously helps. Many tradespeople have struggled since last year and I honestly feel that during the good times a minority perhaps didn't focus on customer care as much as they should have done. We make sure we turn up when we say we will, do the job the customer requires and leave their house as clean as a whistle. I often get comments back from customers on how they really didn't expect that sort of service which, in a way, is very sad for the service industry as a whole.'

Cloudy2Clear service the Crosby, Litherland, Aintree, Maghull, Walton, Anfield, Netherton, Bootle, Formby, Ormskirk and Skelmersdale areas & Paul is finding that his approach is a major factor in his success. 'The truth is that it's not just the personal satisfaction that I get from doing a good job but also it makes good business sense. I get a huge amount of business from friends and family of people I've done work for, which just goes to show how much a little bit of effort is appreciated.'

So, if your windows are steamed up, broken or damaged give Paul a call for a free quotation on 0800 61 21 118 and he'll be happy to help!

Young to have their say on health and care services

CHILDREN and teenagers are being given the chance to have their say on health and social care services in Lancashire.

The county's Children and Young People's Health and Wellbeing Participation Group, PULSE – set up in 2012 with county council support – is to become part of Healthwatch Lancashire.

Members of PULSE will be given the opportunity to develop their own ideas and projects, as well as participating in Healthwatch activities and campaigns.

Gill Brown, Healthwatch Lancashire chief executive, said: "It is important that the views of children and young people are listened to by those who manage and run health and social care services and the Lancashire PULSE group will ensure that these views are not only listened to but that we are able to learn from them."

How people can make, or ruin, your day

LITTLE things can mean so much, as the song goes.

And in life I have found this to be very true.

Only a couple of hours ago I was shopping in my local bargain store and happened, in my clumsy way, to knock a plastic container of cocktail sticks off the shelf with the inevitable result that the top flew off and the wooden sticks scattered in all directions like some kind of Chinese fortune telling system.

I creaked down and started to round them up and persuade them back into their small plastic home. Within seconds I was joined in my task by a pupil from Maricourt High School who simply got on with helping without saying a word.

When all were safely corralled, he walked back to his mum (I imagine) who he was apparently helping with the shopping.

I did try to thank him, but he simply acknowledged my thankfulness and got on with his life.

Now at this point I could start the usual eulogy about how not all young people are vandals and generally unpleasant people. But I'm not going to.

Because as I have noted before, I believe people are people, whether they are 15 or fifty. And this particular person showed just how kind some folk can be when helping out a fellow person.

So my sincere thanks my man, whoever you are. A problem shared is a problem more than halved – and instead of me looking a right 'nana, we became merely two people clearing up a small mess.

So thank you stranger, you're a gent.

And over time I have experienced similar acts of kindness, large and small, which brighten anyone's day. And Good Samaritans come in all ages and sexes too.

So that incident made my day.

Unhappily though, there are also plenty of folk around who can ruin a day just as easily.

Like the horrible tale of the airline pilot who drowned his neighbour's much loved small dog – because it barked while he was in his garden.

Worse, he put the small corpse in a sack, attempted to cut out its identity tag, and dumped it under a hedge.

The courts gave him a suspended jail sentence – I know where I would have liked to suspend him from.

Or our friends the Boys in Blue, who deployed a helicopter, 20 odd vehicles – and armed marksmen – because three cows had been spooked by a dog and escaped from their country house home.

The police claim the cows "constituted a significant risk to the public" but according to onlookers Bessie the cow was chewing her way through a piece of grass when she was shot dead.

Surely the police could have fenced her in, or even use a tranquilising gun if they must.

I remember when I lived in Colchester I saw a female police officer (at the time she was a WPC though sadly not now) chase a huge swan down busy East Hill.

The big bird was determined not in its flight as such, but flapped and waddled, herded by the police person, 'till the duo eventually arrived at the bridge over the Rover Colne, where it took to the water and glided regally on its way.

That was amusing. The events surrounding poor Bessie were anything but.

Crowds flock to historic Three Queens event

By Tom Martin

THOUSANDS of spectators, including many from West Lancashire, gathered in Liverpool and along the neighbouring Sefton coastline for the historic Cunard Three Queens event.

Local residents were joined by visitors from across the country to witness the huge vessels sailing in together for the first time for a three–day celebration to mark the 175th anniversary of the founding of Cunard in the city.

The highlight came on Monday, May 25, when the Queen Mary 2, Queen Elizabeth and Queen Victoria sailed in unison along the River Mersey in the afternoon.

They lined up across the water just 130 metres apart as the Red Arrows performed a fly–past overhead to make for a stunning sight for the delighted crowd, many snapping away to capture memorable pictures of the special occasion.

The three–day celebration began on Sunday, May 24, when the Queen Mary 2 made her way past Crosby beach at around 7am.

Trains and buses were full of commuters travelling to watch the spectacle, with traffic also grinding to a halt on roads near Liverpool's Pier Head as those arriving by car tried to get a glimpse of the ships.

The crowd were also treated to a spectacular firework display in the evening on Sunday before people began to filter home to get some rest ahead of the main spectacle the following day.

It was then time for the arrival of Queen Elizabeth and Queen Victoria, who joined up with the Queen Mary 2 on Monday before all three sailed along the River Mersey in the afternoon.

The crowd bid farewell to the Queen Mary 2 before Queen Elizabeth berthed at the Pier Head while the Queen Victoria found a spot to anchor in the middle of the River Mersey.

A second firework display took place at around 10pm which signalled the departure of the Queen Elizabeth.

It was then replaced by the Queen Victoria, which took its place at the Pier Head overnight before departing on Tuesday (May 26) at around 5pm.

Staff and residents from Hillcroft at the Hilton Hotel in Liverpool, with hotel staff and members of the public

Patriotic care home party celebrate VE Day anniversary

RESIDENTS and staff at a residential care home commemorated the 70th anniversary of VE Day with a Union Jack–themed event at the Hilton Hotel in Liverpool.

The party from the Hillcroft home in Long Lane, Aughton marked the occasion by dressing in patriotic red, white and blue and enjoyed an afternoon tea, sandwiches, cakes and wine, while swapping memories of the second world war and the celebrations that followed the announcement of Victory in Europe

Hillcroft's vents organiser, Lesley Malone, said: "Other visitors to the hotel listened to the residents' memories, especially our resident Agnes, who was a land girl in the war and remembers parties in the street to celebrate VE Day."

Try something new call to adult learners

WEST Lancashire residents are being urged to have a go at something they have never tried before as part of national Adult Learners' Week (June 15–19).

Lancashire County Council's adult learning service is offering more than 50 free taster courses in a wide range of subjects.

You can try your hand at Indian head massage, get clued up on digital photography or learn about safe banking online, while history and myth, a taste of Spain and dementia awareness are just a few more of the classes on offer.

The free two–hour courses will be held from Monday to Friday, June 15 to 19, in local venues across the county such as libraries, community centres, church halls, children's centres and schools.

Adult Learners' Week inspires thousands of people each year to discover how learning can change their lives.

Linda Carter, assistant principal of Lancashire Adult Learning, said: "Our free Adult Learners' Week courses are designed to encourage people to try out adult learning and to discover the wide range of learning opportunities that are on offer in Lancashire.

"Adult learning can help people to gain new skills, expand their abilities and transform their lives so I hope that people will give it a go and realise that you're never too old to learn."

For more information and a complete list of courses, visit lancashire.gov.uk/adultlearning or call 0300 123 6711.

We clean so you don't have to...

BNI FEATURE

PARTNERS Ed Mawdsley and Kaz Bednarek started 3Ts Cleaning Services in September 2014 wanting to offer high quality, reliable and affordable cleaning services to everybody.

From the beginning Kaz and Ed have been working seven days a week offering early morning starts for restaurants and bars needing to be ready to open, late finishes for offices after staff gone home or even overnight cleaning for clients on deadlines. For example, properties which need to be cleaned ready for new tenants or shops and offices which need to be ready following building work.

Ed and Kaz have now built up a regular client base of weekly, fortnightly or monthly domestic house cleans.

Ed says: "Our reputation was growing quicker than we could of imagined. Our happy clients were referring us to their families and friends.

Local letting agents are using our services to bring properties back to a presentable state for new tenants and builders using us to clean following their works.

"This success meant that at the beginning of the new year we employed two new members of staff Marcin and Daria and following full training to our high standards we now have another vehicle on the road to help satisfy more clients.

"Generally people don't have a lot of time to clean their houses. Having busy lives, the last thing they want to do is come home and start to clean their bathrooms, kitchens, windows and hoover.

"3Ts Cleaning Services offer them the solution to make their lives easier and bring smiles to the faces on returning home from work. Leaving them to spend quality time with their families.

"Our clients are happy to post testimonials on our facebook page:

DD of Formby says: "I have never seen our Formby shop as clean as after your visit today. Everything sparkled,everything gleamed and best of all I didn't have to do it myself "

JH of Hesketh Bank : "I can highly recommend 3Ts Cleaning Services. They did a deep clean on my conservatory inside and out, it now looks like brand new again. I'm extremely happy ."

Ed has been a member of BNI for 15 years. In that time he has built strong relationships with members from his own group Mariners, in Southport. We receive regular referrals from them and other BNI members from across Merseyside and Lancashire.

Ed says: "BNI has helped our new business grow quickly and I am looking forward to expanding with the help and support of the BNI network of trusted individuals and businesses."

Sporty pupils net place in county games finale

St Anne's Primary School's netball team

SPORTY pupils from a local primary have netted a place in the finals of a prestigous county–wide schools competition.

Members of the netball squad at St Anne's Catholic Primary School, Ormskirk defeated rivals from Burscough and Skelmersdale to win the right to represent West Lancashire in the finals of the SPAR Lancashire School Games to be held at Stanley Park, Blackpool on June 30.

Now in its ninth year, the event is the biggest school games scheme in the county.

The county finals will see more than 2,000 children compete in gymnastics, handball, football, netball, rounders, athletics, tennis and tag rugby.

The event is organised by Lancashire Sport Partnership and sponsored by James Hall & Company Ltd, the SPAR distributors for the North of England.

Organiser Chris Hart said: "It was fantastic to see so many parents supporting the children at Glenburn Sports College for the annual West Lancashire high five netball qualifiers and the level of sportsmanship and team spirit displayed was exceptional.

"Congratulations to the pupils from St Anne's Primary School on securing a much–coveted place at the SPAR Lancashire School Games."

Care home group enjoy Dementia Awareness Week museum trip

RESIDENTS from a care home in Aughton visited an exhibition at the Museum of Liverpool to celebrate National Dementia Awareness Week.

Six residents from the Hillcroft residential and care home in Long Lane were joined on the day trip by a member of Age UK which has paired up with the home as part of their initiative to make all older people feel involved in the community.

National Dementia Awareness Week, organised by the Alzheimer's Society, promotes the message that life doesn't end when dementia begins.

Lesley Malone, Hillcroft's events co–ordinator, said: "Six residents, four of whom suffer from dementia, and a member from Age UK went to the museum to take a stroll down the Memory Lane exhibit which featured 1940s, 1950s and 1960s–themed exhibitions and memory–boxes holding household items including old sewing machines, irons and and old–fashioned toys including a giant rocking horse.

"Going to Liverpool brought back lots of memories for the residents and the conversations they had about their childhoods and about the city were unbelievable.

"People who suffer from dementia can still have a great quality of life and activities and events like these promote stimulating dementia sufferers. At Hillcroft we encourage our residents to join in with these meaningful activities and continue their involvement in the community."

County's young readers vote for their favourites

THE winners of the 10th annual Fantastic Book Awards have been chosen by young readers from Lancashire.

Pupils aged nine to eleven in 120 schools across the county were asked to read six books from a list of 30 during the autumn and spring terms.

The children voted for their favourite at the end of the spring term.

Ceremonies were held in five primary schools to announce the winning authors and books. These were as follows Tracey Corderoy (Baddies, Beasties and a Sprinkling of Crumbs!); Neil Gaiman (Fortunately, the Milk...); Peter Hamilton (The Queen of Dreams); Philip Reeve and Sarah McIntyre (Oliver and the Seawigs) and Kate Scott (Boy in Tights).

The aim of the awards is to support reading for pleasure and enjoyment by introducing newly–published fiction titles to nine to 11–year–old pupils.

Enthusiasm

Marcus Johnstone, Lancashire County Council's cabinet member for environment, planning and cultural services, said: "I really applaud this initiative. It is one I fully support. We are committed to maintaining the high levels and standards of literacy in Lancashire and this is a fun way that we engage with our children to encourage them to read.

"We particularly like the books to be read in a book club so the pupils can share their thoughts in a relaxed setting and foster enthusiasm for reading and discussion.

"I'm so pleased that the Fantastic Book Awards are now enjoying their 10th successful year and I'm sure they will enjoy many more."

Every school and all participating pupils receive certificates celebrating their achievements.

Entertainer wants to carry on 'forever'

Report by Henry James

THE King of Mirth – Ken Dodd is returning to Southport Theatre on Saturday at 7pm.

The entertainer, who has performed in theatres all over the country in a career which spans over six decades, is famous for his tickling stick, rapid one–liners, for his friends the Diddymen from Knotty Ash and for selling records across the world – in the sixties he was this country's best–selling pop artist.

He has told jokes at the London Palladium while Bob Hope was in the audience and sung at the same venue, with none other than Bing Crosby watching.

He has also survived setbacks. At the end of the 1980s, the comedian was charged with tax evasion, but he was acquitted.

He is listed on Wikipedia as 87 and when The Champion asked him how long he thinks he can go on performing he responded: "I think I can go on forever. Retirement is when a man or women stops doing what they don't want to do and start doing what they want to do.

"I have been doing what I love doing for the last 60, 70, 80 years and I want to keep doing that. What I do has become a way of life for me."

Doddy wouldn't confirm his age but added: "In my head I am 30 several."

The performer has an OBE, but has yet to receive a knighthood. "I will leave that to the powers that be," Ken said when asked if he would like to receive the recognition. "To receive a knighthood would be very nice, but my greatest accolade is standing on stage and hearing the audience laugh.

"It is a wonderful experience to stand in front of an audience at Southport theatre, or any theatre, and know the people in front of you are all waiting to laugh.

"I am in a wonderful profession, the greatest profession of all. Southport is a great theatre and draws people from all over. We get explorers from Preston and also people from the other side of the hill in Yorkshire. There are wonderful people who come to my show. They are not fans, they are my friends.

"I come to Southport three times a year and each show I tell them different jokes, different songs and sometimes I wear a different coat! Every show is a different experience, in 60 plus years I have never done the same show twice. Each audience I play in a different way, I play an audience like you would play a piano."

Ken Dodd Code NA

Last year, it was 60 years since the entertainer gave his first professional performance at the Empire Theatre in Nottingham. But how has he managed to sustain his popularity for over six decades? "I would like to think I am a reasonable man who hopefully communicates to everyone in the audience. I talk to the audience, like I was talking to one person.

"I was given a gift in being able to entertain people. When I go on stage I have to build a rapport with the audience. I have 30 seconds to say hello and make friends and let the audience know that I am not the sort of fellow who is going to try and harangue and shout at them, or tell them any mucky stories."

Doddy will not be the only performer on May 30, people will also be able to see one of the Diddymen, Dicky Mint. Ken explained: "Dicky Mint is the foreman of the jam butty mines here in Knotty Ash. He hears a rumour that somewhere near Southport, or Ormskirk, that a treacle well has been discovered. He wants to swap some Knotty Ash jam butties for Southport treacle.

"Expect an evening of fun, laughter, music and song."

The Jackie Oates Band play at the venue on Thursday, June 4 and Peter Knight's Gigspanner bring their Layers of Ages Album Launch Tour on Thursday, June 18.

The delicate balance between then and now, respect and reinvention, tradition and the new has made Jackie Oates a name synonymous with the good health of English folk music in the 21st century.

This tour celebrates the release of Jackie's sixth studio album, The Spyglass & The Herringbone, a record exploring lesser known but life–affirming songs from the English tradition, drawing on material dug from the archives, as well as some carefully selected original works including the title track by band member Chris Sarjeant.

Since his departure from folk–rock pioneers Steeleye Span at the end of 2013, Peter Knight has turned his full attention to his trio Gigspanner, and in the process has firmly established their reputation as one of the most innovative acts on the folk/roots scene.

Few fiddle players can hold a candle to the legendary Peter Knight, whose presence has enriched the folk scene for four decades.

This launch tour of Gigspanner's new studio album Layers of Ages sees the trio blowing the dust from a collection of well–worn traditional songs and tunes carefully dismantled, reconsidered and put together again to reveal moments of originality and beauty.

Peter Knight's Gigspanner Code NA

As expected, traditional music forms the bedrock of the trio's repertoire, but the approach is what sets it apart...leaving enough room with the arrangements to spread and stretch the music in the moment. Multicultural influences are fed into the mix, with French, Cajun, African, Cuban and even Aboriginal traditions.

Hear Motown classics at Phil

CELEBRATING 50 years of UK number one hit singles, the Magic of Motown brings its brand–new 2015 REACH OUT Tour to the Liverpool Philharmonic Hall this Sunday (May 31) at 7.30pm.

Songs like Stop in the Name of Love, I Can't Help Myself, Tracks of My Tears and It's the Same Old Song rocketed artists like the Supremes, The Four Tops, and Smokey Robinson and the Miracles to the top of the singles charts in 1965, said show producer Michael Taylor.

"Incredibly, 100 more No1s followed worldwide," he added. "The Magic of Motown 2015 Reach Out Tour brings to the stage 36 of these chart toppers back–to–back in one critically–acclaimed production."

Direct from the USA, The Magic of Motown aims to provide five–star performances that will authentically revive the style and sophistication of everyone's favourite musical legends.

"This year we're proud to announce that the show will include more number one hits than ever before," commented Michael.

There is a chance to hear classic hits from the Temptations, and Four Tops.

Hairspray is a 'good musical with fancy choreography'

Review by Jenny Robson

• Hairspsray – BOS Musical Theatre Company
• Southport Little Theatre
• May 23 to 30

THE students from Patterson Park High School are buzzing with excitement as they audition to get on to the Corny Collins television show.

One of the regulars, Brenda, is leaving (for nine months!) so who will fill the gap? Cue the competition between plain and plump Tracy and beautiful blonde Amber. Both are also plying for the attention of Link Larkin (Devon Motte looking every inch the teenage heart–throb, especially when he wears his white suit).

Bethany Lewis has lots of enthusiasm and energy so is perfect as Tracy,

'There are some excellent comic duos' reprising the role she first played three years ago with SONG.

Lucie Clarke is a pleasure to watch as Penny. Her mannerisms and expressions are on show even when in the background.

There are some excellent comic duos – namely Nathan Colman in drag as Edna Turnblad and Bruce Lee as her husband Wilbur.

Amber (Lauren Millar) and her pushy mother Velma (Sarah McNally) bounce off each other very well – as do Motormouth Maybelle (Chloe Davies) and Seaweed (Mitch Mimms).

Nick Lloyd does a good job as Corny Collins and Jhanaica Mook is suitably cute as Little Inez.

The show is set in America during the sixties – except that it isn't swinging for everyone. There is a dramatic racial problem but – hey! – Tracy is coming to the rescue with plans for integration. After a short spell in prison for protesting, Tracy gets her way and unites all races on the Corny Collins Show. It is no surprise when Amber is voted Miss Ultra Clutch Hairspray (albeit a little too early!) but Tracy isn't interested in the title. After all, she has Link!

Despite a few sound problems and some of the words being indecipherable, this is a good production with fancy choreography, energetic music from Charles Moss and his band and much vivacity from the whole cast. Score: 8/10

PRAYER

HOLY SPIRIT

You, who make me see everything and show me the way to reach my ideals. You, who gave the Divine Gift to forgive and forget all that is done to me. I, in this short dialogue, want to thank You for everything and affirm once more that I never want to be separated from You no matter how great the material desires may be. I want to be with You and my loved ones in their perpetual glory. To that end, and submitting to God's Holy Will, I ask You (mention your request).

This prayer must be said for three consecutive days. After the third day the request will be granted no matter how difficult it may be. Promise to publish the entire dialogue as a condition of having your request granted.

T.K.

Thanks to our lady of Fatima T.K. (45565)

Grateful Thanks St Jude. Favours received J.T. (45564)

PRAYER

DEAR SACRED HEART OF JESUS

In the past I have asked for many favours. This time I ask for one special favour. (mention it)

Take it dear heart of Jesus and place it within your own broken heart where your Father sees it. Then in his merciful eyes it will become your favour, not mine.

Amen

Say this prayer for three days, promise publication and your favour will be granted. Never to be failed.

It's a sad day for the Sega Rally generation

Life On Cars
DAVID SIMISTER
www.lifeoncars.blogspot.com

A CAR COMPANY you'd completely forgotten about is on the automotive equivalent of life support.

At the moment it offers just two models – one of which is a very lightly disguised Chrysler Voyager people carrier – and the only country either are offered in is Italy. Yet it's behind some of the most innovative cars ever produced, including a humble hatchback that went on to win the World Rally Championship five times on the trot.

How the heck did Lancia get it so completely wrong?

My theory is that you'll have one of three recollections of this great Italian marque, depending entirely on your age. If you're old enough to remember it, Lancia was about the Beta and (not entirely true) news reports suggesting corrosion was so bad engines would simply drop out onto the road beneath. If you're young enough to know what a Pixie Lott is, you almost certainly won't remember Lancia because it was dropped entirely from the UK back in 1994.

I'm somewhere in the middle, which means I grew up sliding pixellated rally cars around Southport's amusement arcades. The Sega Rally generation – the generation that's now old enough to buy cars – grew up worshipping the Lancia Delta Integrale.

For me, it seems desperately sad that the manufacturer behind the Fulvia, the Stratos, the Montecarlo and the Ferrari–engined Thema 8.32 has been reduced to flogging a rebadged MPV and a tarted up Fiat 500 in Italy alone. Particularly because it was only a couple of years ago parent company Fiat missed a golden opportunity to bring it back to Blighty.

I remember test driving the current Ypsilon and not being terribly impressed – but its bigger brother, the Delta, was a corker. It would have been a great reintroduction for Lancia, but rather bizarrely all its cars were badged over here as Chryslers instead, despite looking about as American as a plate of risotto.

I can't be the only Brit old enough to remember Lancia fondly but young enough to forgive the rusty Beta debacle that savaged the company's reputation a very, very long time ago – let's face it, when it happened Spandau Ballet were still yet to release their first single!

I think it's high time Fiat let Lancia off the leash a bit, stopped faffing around with rebadged people carriers and made some sports cars worthy of the great name, and brought them over here for a newly appreciative British audience to enjoy them. Fingers crossed!

David is the news editor for Classic Car Weekly

David spent his childhood driving one of these on Sega Rally games Code NA

The Fiat Aegea is a small saloon rather than a hatchback Code NA

Fiat Aegea could go on sale in UK showrooms

FIAT is weighing up whether or not to bring its latest model to Britain. The Aegea is a small saloon made by the company's factory in Turkey, and is available with two petrol and two turbodiesel engines. It's still under evaluation by Fiat UK, but traditionally small saloons have been poor sellers here – which is why Ford and Vauxhall have both dropped theirs from British showrooms.

Ormskirk knocked off top as batters muster just 97 at New Brighton

Northern CC's Tom Bailey celebrates taking the wicket of Derbyshire's Ben Slater on the opening day of the match.

ORMSKIRK were knocked off the top of the Liverpool & District Cricket Competition Premier Division at second placed New Brighton on Saturday.

After electing to bat Ormskirk struggled and were dismissed for just 97, with only John Armstrong 35, skipper Matty Glayzer 25 and Lancashire's Simon Kerrigan 17 making double figures, whilst the pick of the bowlers was Ashraf Nawab with 3–26.

In reply the hosts eased to victory on 100–3, thanks to Lancashire's Luke Procter 29*, Upal Fernando 27* and Martyn Evans 23, with Nick Caunce taking 2–19.

Southport & Birkdale were beaten by 6 wickets at Birkenhead Park.

After deciding to bat first S&B managed to put 176 up on the board, thanks to Adam Phillips 47, Scott Lees 31 and a late unbeaten flourish from Chris Andrews 27*, whilst chief destroyer with the ball was veteran spinner Robbie Houghton who took the first 9 to wickets to fall to end with 9–49.

In reply, Ian Daniel 67 and an unbeaten 40 from Luke Camden made sure the hosts sealed victory on 177–4.

Lytham elected to bat at Formby and were soon sent packing for 111, with only Will Hale 40 able to offer much resistance with the bat as Nottinghamshire's Gary Keedy 4–6 and opener Alex Lines 5–46 tore a hole in the middle to late order. In reply Jude Mahadanaarachchi 85* and Patrick Pisel 21* raced to 114–0 to seal an emphatic 10 wicket victory and move up the third place in the table.

Northern were put in to bat at home to Bootle, with Stephen Lucas 53, skipper James Cole 49, former Bootle batsman Davy Smith 48 and Ian Carroll 31 helping them to declare on 209–5. In reply 5–35 from Ryan Maddock then helped to dismiss their close neighbours for 108 and seal a 101 run victory.

This weekend's local LDCC Premier Division fixtures (1pm): Lytham v Northern, Ormskirk v Leigh, Rainhill v Formby, Southport & Birkdale v New Brighton.

S&B can be proud of county fixture success

SOUTHPORT & Birkdale CC staff, members and volunteers can be all be very proud of the hard work they've done in order to get the prestigious Lancashire and Derbyshire in an LV County Championship Division Two fixture at Trafalgar Road this week.

Organising the fixture took months of forward planning, countless hours of unpaid graft and a bit of luck with the weather in order for it to be a success both on and off the pitch.

Stone takes six as Burscough roll over Skelmersdale for 73

BURSCOUGH continued their perfect start to the season in the Second Division with a convincing 9 wicket home win over Skelmersdale.

After winning the toss Skelmersdale were duly rolled over for just 73, thanks to 6–17 from Jon Stone and 3–20 from Jack Cosgrove.

In reply, 34 not out from Ryan Hughes and an undefeated 18 from Lee Berrie made sure the visitors went home pointless and opened up a 34 point gap at the top for the leaders.

Hightown St Mary's climbed up to mid table after a quickfire 7 wicket win at Caldy, the hosts were put in to bat and dismissed for just 59, thanks to 5–30 from Jan Gadzina and 3–13 from Paul Jones. The visitors then eased to 62–3 to wrap up maximum points, with Kamran Hussain 25* and Gadzina 24* both unbeaten.

Maghull moved to second place in the First Division with a 55 run home win over Sefton Park, after electing to bat the hosts declared after 62 overs on 197–8, thanks in the main to Liam Crilly 44, an unbeaten 43 from Declan Devine and 24 from skipper Greg Gillespie, with Fraser Hill 3–45 and Peter Kelly 3–49 taking the bulk of the wickets.

In reply 3–37 from Crilly and 3–44 from his spin partner Jack Snowdon helped dismiss the visitors for 142 and seal the win.

Fleetwood Hesketh climbed up the table with a 45 run home win over second placed Liverpool, the hosts elected to bat first and thanks to Australian Harry Nichols 36, Andrew Watts 32 including 3 consecutive sixes and Paul Regan 27 managed to put 159 up on the board, with Sean Hogan taking 6–40.

In reply 5–30 by Aaron Halsall set up victory as the visitors were bowled out for 114.

Skem historian aims to write new book on memories of 1967 Wembley final Report by Neil Leatherbarrow

Having already had two books on Skelmersdale United Football Club published the 'official club historian' Kevin Panther is going for the hat–trick with one he is now busy researching about the legendary team of 1967 who reached the FA Cup Amateur Final.

Kevin co–authored the book on the history of the club 'The Boys in Blue from 1882' then worked with myself on the book 'Champions' the story of Skelmersdale United's famous all conquering championship season of 2012/13.

Arguably in many local Skelmersdale people's eyes the team that is remembered of the two Wembley teams, the 1967 team contained more locally based players and although they lost out in a replay to Enfield after a 0–0 draw at Wembley the players are still remembered fondly by the old timers around the town.

A previous book by Kevin Panther.

Thousands poured down to Wembley not just from Skelmersdale but from the surrounding area too.

Kevin wants to hear about the experiences and memories of people who were there or not there as the case may be.

He wants to know what people remember of the road to Wembley and intends it to be a verbal history of the day from the perspective of the people who were there on the day.

He is also looking for any photographs or memorabilia that you may have. He promises to return them, but does want to photograph the items or to copy old photographs, for inclusion in the book.

Email Kevin on kevpanther@btinternet.com or call 07855 701512.

CARE HOMES Guidelines

There are a number of legislations to which care homes must adhere to, including registration and inspection, buildings management, human resources and standards of care. There are many publications, web links, and organisations which can provide information, support and guidance relating to the management and operation of care homes.

The Care Quality Commission (CQC) is the independent regulator of health care and adult social care services in England. It is responsible for maintaining standards in health and adult social care in England. All care homes are types of service providers required to be registered with the CQC.

A booklet outlining the National Minimum Standards Care Homes Regulations can be obtained from The CQC or by contacting your local Department Of Health.

If you do not already have a home in mind and are not sure of how to find one, these points may help:

- The (CQC) provides details of registered care homes in every area. You can also see copies of their inspection reports for homes you are interested in on their website
- Social workers at your local authority social services department or the hospital may also be able to provide a list of homes
- Telephone directories will contain addresses of homes
- There are an increasing number of independent websites aimed at assisting people to find care homes and other services, it is always advisable to check the 'About us' section on these sites to find out who they may be tied to or owned by in terms of the actual independence of their information.

Care homes can be owned and run by local councils, private companies or voluntary organisations. Private care homes are run for profit by private organisations and individual proprietors. Voluntary homes are non-profit making and run by registered charities, religious organisations and housing associations, sometimes for particular groups of people. Both types of home can choose to whom they offer accommodation. Some care homes are run by the social services department of the local authority.

Each home should produce a statement of purpose, setting out its aims and objectives, the range of facilities and services it offers to its residents and the terms and conditions on which it does so in its contract of occupancy. This should be made available to prospective residents along with copies of the home's most recent CQC inspection reports.

If you can't find a care home that provides the sort of care you need, ask your local council to help. It has a responsibility to find a suitable home for anyone it has assessed as needing a care home place.

HELP AT HOME
Individual Solutions

Many people can live at home and get along fine with some help. The range available is quite comprehensive and help can be tailored to an individual need.

For example, you may find that a mere thirty minutes a day is sufficient to assist with morning breakfast, washing and dressing. This sort of help can be tailored from 15 minutes to full day support for those who may need a live-in carer.

If you find yourself being able to live quite an independent life but requiring help for specific tasks such as going out to shop or walking the dog or even cleaning windows, there are solutions for you too.

You also may find that assisted living aids such as a stair lift, a downstairs bathroom or a wheelchair can make all the difference with continuing to live at home.

Check out our adverts in this Focus section for more details about your local providers.

Carers Solutions

If you are a carer yourself there are ways of ensuring that you can get valuable assistance in what you do. These care workers can also be known as care attendants or personal assistants. Home help can provide services such as:

- Domiciliary care for the person you're looking after. This includes help with getting up and going to bed, bathing, dressing, meals and medication.
- Help with shopping.
- Sitting with the person you're looking after to allow you to have a break.
- Helping the person you're looking after to go to the cinema, pub, shopping or to enjoy any other community activity.
- Practical tasks around the home such as cleaning and cooking.

Being a carer or becoming one can be daunting, not least physically. If, for example, you are required to physically lift someone you must ensure that you can do so safely. Your local authority has a responsibility to consider your needs as a carer and the needs of the person you care for.. Simply contact your local authority and ask for a community care assessment for the person you look after, as well as a carer's assessment to help you. For advice and guidance on moving and handling, ask for an occupational therapy assessment. You may be given free specialist equipment to help you, such as hoists, stand aids, transfer boards or slide sheets. You may also be able to find free training courses, which will teach you safe handling methods.

Budget

You may worry at how to fund any of the above solutions but there is help available there too.

The main sources of support are the NHS and your local social services department but, depending on your circumstances, help may also be available from charitable organisations such as the Family Fund for example. Your GP should be able to guide you through the maze of available support and he or she should be your first step.

Assessments

An assessment will be arranged in most cases to ascertain what level of financial help can be obtained and also what level of aid you will need. Check with your GP or local authority. Don't assume you will not be helped, especially if you are to become a carer.

HELPING THE CARER

Caring for an another person who may be ill, elderly or disabled, a relative or a friend, without the right support can sometimes prove difficult but it can also be a rewarding experience. Not all carers are trained professionals, many are just caring for someone they love.

If you're a carer, there are many organisations that can provide practical and financial help, as well as short breaks from caring.

Most carers have a legal right to an assessment of their own needs. Take this opportunity to discuss with the social services department of your local authority any help you may need. You can ask for any help that would assist in maintaining your own health and balance caring with other aspects of your life, such as work and family. Social services then use the assessment to decide what help to provide.

Below are a number of ways that you can take a break from your caring role and this is something that you can also discuss with a social worker or care manager, they may also be able to suggest other ways that might suit you better:

1. Residential respite: the person you care for is looked after by someone else for a short period, either in residential or nursing care, or on holiday.

2. Domiciliary care: someone can come into your home for a few hours or sometimes overnight, so you can go out or have some time to yourself.

3. You can sometimes get a break when the person you care for is involved in other activities, for instance at school or at a day care centre.

As well as the practical and emotional support that you may require as a carer, you may also need advice on a subject that people don't like to discuss, money. You may need financial support for extra expenses that come within the caring role. Carer's Allowance is the main state benefit for carers, so it's important to find out if you are eligible. You can get a claim form from your local Jobcentre Plus office or the Department for Work and Pensions. For more information on what benefits you're entitled contact or visit your local Citizen's Advice Bureau.

If you're working as well as caring for someone, you have the right to ask your employer for flexible working arrangements to help you. This could be working part-time, flexi-time (when you choose your working hours), compressed hours (working your contracted hours over fewer days), job-sharing or homeworking.

You have the right to make one request for flexible working and your employer must consider it but does not have to agree to it.

Your health and wellbeing is most important for yourself and the person you are caring for and we all need a little help some time.

LIVING INDEPENDENTLY

The longer anyone can live independently, the happier the person will remain. However, sometimes, help will be needed to continue living well and without problems.

Stay at home

We have explored some of the help offered in our HELP AT HOME Section and though for most this is, by far, the most preferred solution it is important to have other possibilities to fall back on, if needed.

Adapting your home

If you are a carer, you may be entitled to some help to adapt your home to the needs of the person you will be caring for. These changes can be vital for both carer and charge. Grants and financial help may be available to you and your local authority will guide you through what you need to do.

Retirement homes

In the past, couples where one of the partners developed memory loss had no alternative but to separate. Today, thankfully there are many resources to avoid heartbreaking decisions such as a forced separation, enabling people to still be together, fully helped by care teams. And if you live on your own or together, there are other solutions, offering not only care but friendships, activities and general looking after in a hotel-like environment.

Check out our advertisers messages through this section.

Care Homes/ Residentail Homes

Care homes for older people may provide personal care or nursing care. A care home which is registered to provide personal care will offer support, ensuring that basic personal needs, such as meals, bathing, going to the toilet and medication, are taken care of.

Some residents may need medical care and some care homes are registered to provide this. These are often referred to as nursing homes. Some homes specialise in certain types of disability, for example, dementia.

DEMENTIA

Dementia can strike anyone, regardless of background or lifestyle. When someone becomes aware that their mental abilities are declining, they will feel increasingly vulnerable, stressed and anxious. They will need their friends, family and carers to help them retain a sense of identity for as long as possible.

The first thing that people with dementia will need is a regular routine to help them overcome increased inability to remember the simplest of things. They need encouragement, not criticism. They will want, as much as anyone, to retain their independence for as long as they possibly can.

Because it is important for dementia sufferers to still feel useful, they need to be encouraged to do as much as their illness allows. Things like making a bed, laying a table or a spot of gardening can make all the difference to what a day holds for a sufferer. Memory aids, especially at the start of the illness, will be useful to remind dementia patients where things are. Pictures on cupboard doors of what's inside or pictures on doors of what the room is (loo, bedroom, etc) can be a lifeline.

It is also important to remember who that person was before he or she fell ill. If she was a keen cook, she will still enjoy preparing food with you, if he was an enthusiastic gardener, he will enjoy sweeping leaves outdoors. Music and pets can still be part of their lives.Watch out that someone with dementia eats well. It is important because patients often can forget the importance of food. The longer people with dementia remain in good health, the better their life will be. If someone puts up a fight at mealtimes you may need to speak to your GP about it. It could be they don't recognise foods any more or they have a dental problem. Sometimes involving the people you care for in preparing the meal can make all the difference. You may have to be flexible in changing your behaviour as their eating patterns and habits change. Above all, remain calm. Stressing yourself and a dementia sufferer at the same time won't help anyone.

Choosing a care home is a very big decision for everyone involved. At Sutton Grange Care Home in Southport, we understand that finding the right home can relieve worry, knowing that you have found the best possible care for you or a member of your family.

Sutton Grange, one of over 200 care homes run by Barchester Healthcare, provide bespoke dementia care services as well as nursing, residential and respite care options.

Our dementia services are provided in a unique care environment called a Memory Lane Community. The purposeful design encourages people living with dementia to lead a full and active life, staying as independent as possible. Our living spaces have been carefully designed to encourage residents to interact with their surroundings and have specialised facilities such as life-skills kitchens.

To find out more about our Memory Lane community and the other services we provide at Sutton Grange care home, please call 01704 741 432 or visit www.barchester.com.

Here are some organisations that may help you along the way:

www.alzheimers.org.uk – This very comprehensive site tackles everything from symptoms to how to live with Alzheimer and has plenty of practical advice and links.

www.dementiacare.org.uk – Although this website is about a Newcastle based charity, its contents are universal inasmuch as it provides really great first step support advice to anyone who feels they may suffer from dementia. A superb first call resource.

www.youngdementiauk.org – Dementia knows no age and though to most of us it is something we think only affects older people, it is not necessarily true. This website is another fine resource specialising on "young onset dementia" which affects people under 65 years of age.

www.dementiafriends.org.uk – Alzheimer's Society's Dementia Friends is all about changing people's perception of dementia. It is about leaning how we can all help and how wveryone of our actions may count in making things better for someone.

MAKING A WILL THROUGH SOLICITORS

Everyone agrees that writing a will is one of the most important things you will ever do. However, advice differs on the best way to do it. Simple DIY efforts are cheap but can be sorely lacking and the best, surest way is using the services of a solicitor.

First of all, you will be protected if something goes wrong. Solicitors are regulated. You can make complaints if anything goes awry, to the solicitor's firm and then to the Legal Ombudsman if you are not getting g anywhere.

You are reassured that all is done properly. Silly but common problems with wills, like using the wrong witnesses or forgetting to have it signed, could mean it's useless when you die. Don't leave it to chance.

The law surrounding inheritances (including Inheritance Tax and trusts) is complicated – solicitors will be familiar with the law and will be able to help you make the most effective choices.

If a solicitor helps you write your will, they'll usually store the original for you in a fireproof safe free of charge.

COST

A will will cost roughly between £ 200 to £ 400, sometimes rising to £ 600 if your affairs are more complex. See it as an investment for your inheritors.

Your solicitor is your best bet. He or she will give you advice and draw your will as it should be. If you prefer, a solicitor can also become executor.

Check out our adverts in this section and make your will as soon as you can, at any age.

FINAL ARRANGEMENTS

When you lose someone, however prepared you may think you are, the reality is that you feel helpless and generally unable to think straight for a while. A funeral director will help and it pays to choose a firm as soon as possible. Furthermore with so many pre-paid funeral plans available, the earlier you decide on what you want, the easier it will be on your relatives.

Because a funeral director's responsibility is to ensure that a funeral meets the wishes of the family, he or she will ensure that the funeral is appropriate, dignified and carried out in a professional manner. He will also ensure that each element of the funeral complies with the law. At a time of loss, the funeral director will also be on hand to help with the many practicalities that a funeral demands. For example, a funeral director may assist in moving the person who has died to their premises or your home, provide facilities to view the person who has died, order floral tributes, help you arrange a time and date for the funeral, ensure paperwork is in place, offer caskets to your budget, arrange music at the funeral itself, provide appropriate cars and staff on the day. In short a good funeral director will ensure the funeral is handled with total dignity and make it an occasion to match the person who died last wishes and his or her relatives.

PREPAID FUNERAL PLANS

There are many variations available with prepaid plans. A reputable funeral director will guide you through your best options and reassure you that you are making the right decision.

Check out our advertisers in this section for more information.

If you passed away tomorrow, would your loved ones be looked after?

In the UK today, over 61% of people do not have a will and quarter of those who don't have one, have never even considered writing one.

What is more shocking is that 77% of parents who have children under the age of five do not have a will and nearly half of those who do have not review their Will in the last five years.

Writing a Will is important and is something that adults of all ages should have in place. Writing a will can enable you to gain peace of mind that the people you care about the most are looked after in the way you would want them to be after you have gone.

It also puts you in control of your personal belongings and your estate, which means that they will be entrusted to the people that you choose them to be and not the choice of a judge.

At Scott Rees and Co we have a friendly and ofiicent Wills and Probate team who can offer impartial advice on a full range of services including:

• Will Writing • Probate Disputes • Lasting Power of Attorney
• Obtaining a Grant of Probate • Severence of Joint Tenancy • Tax Planning

From having a cuppa, to helping you write your will, we will be with you and your loved ones every step of the way.

We guarantee that once you have paid for your plan that there will be nothing more to pay for our services. We offer a range of plans and flexible ways to pay. More than a million people in the UK have taken out a funeral plan, over 420,000 of them with Golden Charter, the UK's largest independent funeral plan provider.

Our funeral plans put your mind at ease with a unique combination of benfits:

- Guaranteed no more to pay for the funeral director's services included in your plan
- Personalise the arrangements to reflect your wishes
- The plan can be transferred to anyone in your family
- Simple Will included

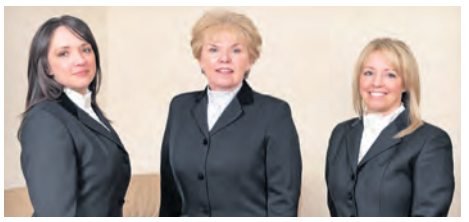
The Golden Charter Funeral Plan guarantee

The price of funerals, like everything, keeps going up. However, with a Golden Charter Funeral Plan, you can protect yourself against these rising costs.

No matter how much the cost of the funeral director's services included in your plan may have increased by the time they are required, they will be covered. You can be sure that once you've paid for your plan, there will be no more to pay for these services.



Each plan also includes an allowance to cover the third party costs that are not within your funeral director's control. These include the fees for the burial or cremation, doctors and officials (where applicable). Only if these costs were to increase more than the growth of the plan might there be a balance to pay at the time of the funeral. Plus, with a Golden Charter Funeral Plan a Simple Will is included to make sure your wishes are known.

We can visit you in the comfort of your own home to go through your plan, or you are welcome to visit us at our Funeral Home at MLS Independent Funeral Directors, 20, Moss Delph Lane, Aughton, L39 5DZ, Tel: 01695 424888 or 22a-22c Liverpool Road North, Burscough, L40 5TP, Tel: 01704 891555.

GRAHAM J. CLEGG

INDEPENDENT FUNERAL SERVICE

We perform a unique and indispensable role in society.
A family concern of 38 years experience

As funeral directors, we are here to help and advise in whatever way we can. We are dedicated professionals who provide a personal service.

Our devotion assisting the bereaved and our attention to detail is everything. Our staff are trained to look for ways and services that will improve and help to lift the burden the family suffers at such times. From the moment you contact us, whether by phone or by calling personally, our trained staff are committed to providing you with a first class professional service to the point beyond when the deceased is finally laid to rest.

The arrangements can be made at our premises or at your home. Should you have any questions or require information, please do not hesitate to contact us.

Part Of The Community

The independent funeral profession has a long proud history of personal service to local communities.
Carrying on the family tradition is a way of life for many independent funeral directors. They are deeply committed to upholding professional standards. Some of the oldest, continuously operated businesses in Britain are locally owned family firms.

What Is In A Name?

In all forms of business today there are big, international companies that have made profits through taking over small firms. The funeral profession is no exception. Many businesses have been swallowed up by the giants.
The trouble is, there usually isn't any change of name to tell you of the difference. That makes it hard for you to distinguish between the family owned firm and the conglomerate. Without asking, you might never know if the owners your family has trusted over the years continue to make the decisions which will affect the service you receive when you need to make funeral arrangements.

If You're Unsure, Ask.

It's important that you know who you're speaking to - an independent funeral director or just one of the branches of a vast conglomerate. When you need the services of a funeral director, you should turn to the firm which has an investment in your community, established over many years.

Services must learn from good and OUTSTANDING care, says CQC

Last year in 2014, Care Quality Commission (CQC) formally rolled out its new way of inspecting health and adult social care across the country, which assesses whether services are safe, caring, effective, responsive to people's needs, and well-led.

Examples of the care that the CQC is celebrating include:
Home Instead Senior Care in West Lancashire and Chorley – based in Ormskirk and one of the first adult social care services to be rated as Outstanding for how it cares for and supports people in their own homes.

David Behan, Chief Executive of the Care Quality Commission, said: "Everyone has a right to receive good care. Quite rightly, much attention is given to the instances when care services have failed people, as this can hold bodies to account and set processes in motion to make sure mistakes are not repeated. However, to achieve this we must also recognise and celebrate the services that are getting it right.
"I am pleased that our new inspection regime is identifying some good and outstanding care across the country, from hospices, to general practices, to care that people receive in their own homes, and to NHS hospitals, mental health and community services. I would like to commend the staff who run these services and provide care on the frontline.
"I hope that shining a spotlight on some of the good and outstanding care we have uncovered will encourage learning, drive improvement and inspire greater confidence in the sectors."

Care and Support Minister, Norman Lamb, said: "We know many thousands of people receive excellent care from health and adult social care providers and our tougher new inspections are uncovering this, as well as highlighting where action needs to be taken.
"I want to congratulate the hard working staff at services awarded good or outstanding ratings – it is now for others to follow by example."
